POETICAL.

BETTER THAN GOLD.

Better than grandeur, better than gold,
Than rank and titles a thousand fold,
Is a healthy body, a mind at ease,
And simple pleasure that always please;
A heart that can feel for another's woe,
And share his joys with a genial glow,
With sympathies large enough to enfold
All men as brothers, is better than gold.

Better than gold is a conscience clear,
Though toiling for bread in an humble sphere,
Doubly blessed with content and health,
Untried by the lust of cares or wealth;
Lowly living and lofty thought
Adorn and ennoble a poor man's cot,
For mind and morals in nature's plan
Are the genuine test of a gentleman.

Better than gold is the sweet repose
Of the sons of toil when their labors close;
Better than gold is the poor man's sleep,
And the balm that drops on his slumbers deep
Bring sleeping draughts to the downy head
Where luxury pillows his aching head;
His simple opiate labor seems
A short road to the land of dreams.

Better than gold is a thinking mind,
That in the realms of books can find
A treasure surpassing Australian ore,
And live with the great and good of yore,
The sage's lord and the poet's lay,
The glories of empire passed away:
The world's great drama will thus enfold
And yield a pleasure better than gold.

Better than gold is a peaceful home,
Where all the fireside charities come;
The shrine of love the heaven of life,
Hallowed by mother, or sister, or wife;
However humble the home may be,
Or tried with sorrow by heaven's decree,
The blessings that never were bought or sold
And centre there, are better than gold.

Miscellaneous.

Mr. Nasby Preaches the "Prodigal Son"—An Interruption.

CONFEDERIT X ROADS, wich is in the Stait of Kentucky, July 6th, 1866.

I preached last Sabbath, or rather tried to, from the parable uv the Prodigal Son. We hed a splendid congregashun. I notice a revival uv the work in this part uv the Democratic vineyard which reely cheers me. The demonstrashun our friends made in Memphis, the canin of Grinnel by Rosso, and the call for a Johnson Convenshun in Philadelphia, all, all hev conspired to comfort the souls uv the Democrisy and encourage em to renewed effort. It is bringing forth fruit. Only last week five Northern men were sent whirlin out uv this section—they dusted in the night to escape hangin, leavin their goods as a prey for the righteous; six niggers hev been killed and one Burrow officer shot. Trooly there is every thing to encourage us.

The house was full. The weather was hot, and the pleasant incense uv mingled whisky, tobacco, and snuff wich arose wuz grateful to me. The sun shone in on Deekin Pogram's face ez he gently slept; and when the sun hits him square I kin alluz tell wher he sets, even ef it is dark. He drinks apple-jack instead uv corn whisky, and chews fine-cut tobacker instead uv plug, and consekently when in the pulpit I kin distinguish the pecooliar aroma uv his breath from those around him.

"My brethren," sed I, "such uv yoo ez hev Bibles in your houses, kin git somebody to read to yoo the parable to which I shel call your attention. A man wunst upon a time had sons, ez many men hev since, and wun uv em wuz a tough one. He left his home and went into far countries, making the old man shel out his share of the estate, and he lived high, jist, my brethren, ez yoor boys do or rather did when they went to Noo Orleans, in the days when yoo hed a nigger or two wich you cood sell to supply em with money. He played draw poker and pharoah; he drank fancy drinks and boarded at a big hotel, and he followed after strange women, which'll bust a man quicker nor any one small sin the devil hez yet invented, ez yoor pastur kin testify. Uv course his pile give out, and he got down my friends, did this ingenuous youth, to rags and wretchedness, and ended in being an overseer uv swine. What did he do? He ariz and went to his father, and the old man saw him afar off and went out to meet him, and fell onto his neck, and give him a order for a soot of uv clothes and a pair uv boots, and put a ring onto his finger, and made a feast, killing for the purpose the fatted calf wich he hed saved for another occasion.

"My friends, you kin find in the skripter suthin applicable to every occasion, and this parable fits my present occasion like a [illegible] made coat. The Prodigal Son. We went South in search of [illegible] from our father's house, on a expedition which hizn't proved altogether a success. We spent our share of the estate, and a little more. We run through with our means, and hev cum down to rags, and dirt, and filth, and hunger. We are, and hev bin some time, a chawin husks. We run out after them twin harlots, Slavery and State Rights, and they've cleaned us out. Our pockets are empty. No more doth the pleasant half dollar jingle in sweet unison agin its fellows; our wallets is barren of postal currency; and the grocery keepers mourn and refuse to be comforted becos we are not. We hev got to the husk stage uv our woe, and wood be tending hogs ef the armies which passed through these countries had left us any. We hev cum back. In rags and dirt we hev wended our way to Washington and asked to be taken back. Now, why don't our Father, the Government, fulfill the skripter. Why don't it see us afar off and run out to meet us? Why don't it put onto us a purple robe?—where's the ring for our finger, and the shoes for our feet? and where's the fatted calf he ought to kill? My brethren, them Ablishinists is worse than infidles—while they preach the gospel, they won't practice it. For my part, I——"

At this point a sargent belongin to that infernal Burrow, who wuz in the awdience with enough uv soldiers to make opposition uv him unpleasant sed he hed bin a sort uv an exhorter in his day, and desired to say a word in explanation uv that parable, ez applicable to the present time, and sez he "ef I am interrupted, remember I belong to the church military, which is just now the church triumphant."—And cockin his musket he proceeded, very much uninterrupted.

"The prodigal son," sez he, "wuz received by the old man with considerable dojus, but, my worthy friends, he went out decently. He didn't, ez soon ez he withdrawed from the house, turn around and make war onto the old gentleman—he didn't burn his house and barns, tear up his garden, burn his fences and knock down the balance of the children. Not any.—He went away peaceably, a misguided good for-nothing, but yet a peaceable good for-nothing. Secondly he cum back uv his own akkord. The old man didn't go after him and fight for four years at a cost uv halt his substance to subdue him and bring him back, but when he hed run through his pile and squandered his share uv the estate and got hungry he came back like a whipped dog.

"My friends, let me draw a small parallel between these cases.

"The Prodigal son went out—so did the South—thus farly the cases is alike.

"The prodigal didn't steal nothin.—The confederacy took everything it cood lay its hands on.

"The Prodigal spent only what wuz his to spend. The confederacy spent not only all it stole, but all it cood borrer, when it knowd its promises to pay wuzent wurth the mizable paper they wuz printed onto.

"The prodigal, when he did come to [illegible] consciousness that he hed made a fool uv hisself cood made him. The confederacy wuz whipped back, but it still swears hefty oaths that it wuz right all the time.

"The Prodigal didn't demand veal pot pies and purple robes, and sich, but begged to be a servant unto the more sensible brethren wich stayed. The South comes back demandin office, uv wich the fatted calf and rings and purple robes is typical, and considerably more sharo in the Government than it hed before it kicked over the traces and went out like the lost tribes uv Israel.

Spozn the Bible prodigal hed stopped his parient and remarked to him thus: 'I am willin to come back on conditions. Yoo must pay my debts—yoo must give me an ekal share uv the farm with the other boys—you must treat me in all respecks just ez if I hadn't gone out, and—this is essential—yoo must take with me all the sharpers who ruined me, all the gamblers and thieves with whom I fell in while I wuz away, and make them head men on the place, and above all, I hev with me two harlots wich wuz the prime cause uv my ruin, and they must hev eleven of the best rooms in the house, and must be treated ez your daughters. To avoid displeasin the others, I'll dress em in different clothes, but here they must stay.—Otherwise I'll go out again.'

"Probably the old gentleman wood hev become indignant, and wood hev remarked to him to go and never let him see his audacious face agin, or rather, he wood have strangled the harlots, scattered the black legs, and choked the young sprout into submission. Them's me. I am anxious to kill that fatted calf, and am also anxious to put on yoor robes and shoes. But alas the calf suffered from want uv attention so long doorin the late misunderstandins that he's too poor—the robes wuz all cut up into bloo bates for the sojers we [illegible] fetch yoo in—Jeff son Davis wore and the rings we hev. When yoo the only style we hev. When yoo come back in good shape yoo find us ready to meet you, but till then chaw husks."

Lookin around, this armed tyrant [illegible] that there would be no more preachin that day, and sadly the congregation dispersed.

I'm heart sick. At every turn I make that Burrow stares me in the face and counteracts my best endeavors. Its curious though what different sermons kin be preached from the same text, and it's also curious how quiet cur folks listen to a ablishnist who hez muskets to back him.

Correspondence.

The following is the correspondence that took place between the Mayor of New Orleans and Gen. Baird previous and subsequent to the late terrible massacre in that city:

MAYORALTY OF NEW ORLEANS,
City Hall, July 25, 1866.

Brev. Maj. Gen. BAIRD, Commanding, etc.

GENERAL: A body of men, claiming to be members of the Convention of 1864, and whose avowed object is to subvert the municipal and State Governments, will, I learn, assemble in this city on Monday next.

The laws and ordinances of the city, which my oath of office makes obligatory on me to see faithfully executed, declare all assemblies calculated to disturb the public peace and tranquility unlawful, and, as such, to be dispersed by the Mayor, and the participants held responsible for violating the same.

It is my intention to disperse this unlawful assembly, if found within the corporate limits of the city, by arresting the members thereof and holding them accountable to existing municipal law, provided they meet without the sanction of the military authorities.

I will esteem it a favor, General, if, at your earliest convenience, you will inform me whether this projected meeting has your approbation, so that I may act accordingly. I am, General, very respectfully,

JOHN T. MONROE, Mayor.

HD'QRS DEPARTMENT OF LOUISIANA,
NEW ORLEANS, LA. July 26, '66.

Hon. J. T. Monroe, Mayor of the City of New Orleans.

SIR: I have received your communication of the 25th instant, informing me that a body of men, claiming to be members of the Convention of 1864, whose avowed object is to subvert the present municipal and State governments, is about to assemble in this city, and regarding this assemblage as one of those described in the law as calculated to disturb the public peace and tranquility, and, therefore, unlawful, you believe it to be your duty, and that it is your intention to disperse this unlawful assembly if found within the corporate limits of the city, by arresting the members thereof and holding them accountable to the existing municipal laws, provided they meet without the sanction of the military authorities.

You also inquire whether this projected meeting has my approbation, so that you may act accordingly.

In reply, I have the honor to state that the assemblage to which you refer has not, so far as I am aware, the sanction or approbation of any military authority for its meetings.

I presume the gentlemen composing it have never asked to such authority to meet, as the military commanders, since I have been in the State, have held themselves strictly aloof from all interference with the political movements of the citizens of Louisiana.—For my own part, I have carefully refrained from any expression of opinion upon either six of the many questions relating to the reconstruction of the State Government. When asked if I intended to furnish the Convention with a military guard, I have replied: "No; the Mayor of the city and the police will amply protect its sittings." If the persons assemble, as you say is intended, it will be, I presume, in virtue of the universally conceded right of all loyal citizens to meet peaceably and discuss freely questions concerning their civil Governments, a right which is not restricted by the fact that the movement proposed might terminate in a change of existing institutions.

If the assemblage in question has the legal right to repeal the State Government, it should be protected in so doing; if it has not then its labors must be looked upon only as a harmless pleasantry, to which no one ought to object. As to your conception of the duty imposed by your oath of office, I regret to differ with you entirely. I cannot understand how the Mayor of a city can undertake to decide so important and delicate a question as the legal authority upon which a Convention claiming to represent the people of an entire State, bases its action.

This doubtless will in due time, be properly decided upon by the legal branch of the United States Government. At all events, the Governor of the State of this kind it [illegible] in a step of this kind it would be more and necessary. What we most want at the present time is the maintenance of perfect good order and the suppression of violence. If, when you speak of the projected meeting as one calculated to disturb the public peace and tranquility, I am to understand that you regard the number of persons who differ in opinion from those who will constitute it as so large and the lawlessness of their character so well established that you doubt the ability of your small force of police to control them, you have in such case only to call upon me, and I will bring to your assistance not only the troops now present in the city, but, if necessary, the entire force which it may be in my power to assemble, either upon the land or on the water. Lawless violence must be suppressed, and in this connection the recent order of the Lieutenant General, designed for the protection of citizens of the United States, deserves careful consideration. It imposes high obligations for military interference to protect those who, having violated no ordinance of the State, are engaged in peaceful avocations.

I am sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

A. BAIRD, Brevet Major Gen.,
Command'g Department of Louisiana

STATE OF LOUISIANA,
MAYORALTY OF NEW ORLEANS,
CITY HALL, July 31st 1866.

Major Gen. BAIRD, Commanding, etc.

SIR: At a late hour last evening after perfect quiet had been restored in this city through the unassisted efforts of the municipal police, the following order from you was placed in my hands by Gen Kautz:

HDQRS. DEPARTMENT OF LOUISIANA,
NEW ORLEANS, LA., July 30, 1866.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 60.—In consequence of the notorious and unlawful proceedings of to day, Martial Law is proclaimed in the city of New Orleans, Brevet Major Gen. A. V. Kautz is appointed Military Governor of the city. He will make his headquarters in the City Hall, and his orders will be minutely obeyed in every particular.

All civil functionaries will report at once to Gen. Kautz, and will be instructed by him with regard to such duties as they may be hereafter required to perform.

By order of Brevet Maj. Gen. Baird.

NATHANIEL BURBANK,
First Lieut. Acting Ass't Adj't Gen.

Without attempting to dispute your power to carry this order into effect, I must, nevertheless, express my profound astonishment that you should have thought proper to take so extraordinary a step at a moment when none of those exigencies existed which have been supposed to palliate the assumption by a military officer, of control over civil functionaries and the civil authority. The aid of the military would have been gladly received by me for the purpose of repressing violence, at the time when such intervention was needed; but I am at a loss to ascertain by what authority, or with what object it is made to assume the form of a virtual suppression of the civil authority which, we have always been taught to believe, it is the principal duty of military officers in this country to sustain and enforce.—If I am to understand, from the words of your order, that it is your desire to prevent a recurrence of the "notorious and unlawful proceedings" of yesterday, I would most respectfully suggest that your release of all the [illegible] and their accessories, who had been arrested by the police, the first act of your assumption of martial law, is not well calculated to accomplish your object.

In conclusion, General, as the duties of my office are strictly defined by statute, and as they are purely of a civil character, I beg leave to decline reporting to any military authority for instructions. I am but ill versed in military affairs, and I could render no assistance to your officers in conducting the city administration under the code of martial law. Until the civil authority is restored, I must, therefore, decline to act as Mayor of New Orleans. Respectfully,

JOHN T. MONROE, Mayor.

The New Orleans Riot.

The evil passions arising out of the war were strikingly demonstrated after the reconquest of the city, and General Butler earned a high reputation by his promptitude and energy in suppressing disorder and giving protection to loyal people against rebels Nearly all the good work he performed with such signal ability has been undone since. The rebels regained their sway, and we see the consequences in the melancholy riot of which we have given accounts. The trouble seems to arise out of a conflict of authority, and could very easily be arranged amicably, and without strife, by a reference of the disputed questions to the national courts. But the purpose of the rebel leaders in New Orleans is to reestablish the reign of terror in which they so long flourished, and by which they were enabled to crush out all opposition to their veiws.

New Orleans has over enjoyed an unenviable reputation as a city in the hands of political desperadoes. Elections have repeatedly been carried there by sheer brute force, and a large community quietly submitted to an authority thus usurped. One might think that after such an experience they would be by no means sensitive in the matter of disputed authority.—But the difference is that the same gangs of desperadoes who dominated the election polls, and who subsequently supported the rebel cause, are now again arrayed in arms in the streets of the city, and for much the same purpose. Formerly it was the poor Irish who were persecuted there. Now it is the negroes and the Republicans.—They hated the Irish badly enough, but we are inclined to think that they hate the Union men and the Republicans worse.

It is shocking to peruse the record of murders perpetrated by an infuriated mob, and the language used by the rebel agent of the press in telegraphing them to the north. The wretches who are committing these deeds of blood are those who undertook to render the city intolerable for the Union soldiers under Butler, during the war, and who were then so signally foiled. They have been holding inflammatory meetings, and denouncing Congress for not admitting their Representatives and Senators at the late session, with their hands still reeking with the blood of Union men, and we shall soon see their delegates asking admission to a National Union Convention here in Philadelphia to preach their style of Unionism to the country. One week now of Benjamin F. Butler's rule in New Orleans would be of immense value to the peace and prosperity of the city and the State. General Sheridan, who commands the Department, is absent in Texas, and President Johnson, unfortunately, has weakened the hands of the military in New Orleans at this time by express orders. We fear, therefore, that the reign of terror will be successful again.—Phil. North American.

Want of Decision.

A great deal of labor is lost to the world for the want of a little courage. Every day sends to their graves a number of obscure men, who have only remained in obscurity because their timidity has prevented them from making a first effort, and who, if they had only been induced to begin, would in all probability have gone great lengths in the career of fame. The fact is, that in doing anything in the world worth doing, we must not stand shivering on the bank, thinking of the cold and danger, but jump in and scramble through as well as we can. It will not do to be perpetually calculating risks and adjusting nice chances; it did all very well before the flood, when a man could consult his friends upon an intended publication for a hundred and fifty years, and live to see its success for six or seven centuries afterwards; but at present a man waits and doubts, and consults his brothers, and uncles, and particular friends, till one day he finds that he is sixty-five years of age, and that he has lost so much time in consulting first cousins and particular friends that he finds no more time to follow their advice. There is so little time for over squeamishness at present, that the opportunity slips away. The very period of life at which a man chooses to venture, if ever, is so confined that it is no bad rule to preach up the necessity, in such instances, of a little violence done to the feelings, and efforts made in defiance of strict and sober calculations.—Sidney Smith.

IN his speech at the Reading Convention recently, Mr. Clymer said, "My History as a politician is the history of the State for the last six years, and I would not to-day alter a line or blot out a particle of it."

In thus reaffirming his record, Mr. Clymer of course had not forgotten a portion of his history as a politician, which is contained in the following extract from a speech made by him against allowing Andrew Johnson to speak in the State Capitol:

"I KNOW, sir, that Andrew Johnson has gone as far as the farthest, and is ready to go still farther, to destroy, to uproot, to upturn every principle upon which this great and good Government of ours was founded. I KNOW that, for pelf or some other consideration, he has succumbed to every measure presented to him for approval or disapproval; and I KNOW that in speeches delivered in the capitals of other States he has enunciated doctrines which, if adopted by the people of the great north, would be subversive of individual freedom and personal right. Sir, by no vote of mine can any person holding such views address the people of Pennsylvania in this chamber. Never, sir, never, so long as I have a right to forbid him."

And yet there is not a supporter of Clymer's in the State who is not toadying to, this same Andrew Johnson, and not a meeting of his friends in which the President's name is not coupled with his own, with the hope of making a little capital out of it.—In an unguarded moment Mr. Clymer thus let his personal vanity override his discretion.

THE question having been raised as to the form of oath taken by GENERAL PATTERSON of Tennessee, the following report of the proceedings is reproduced from the Congressional Globe:

The Senate accordingly resumed the consideration of the resolution reported from the Committee on the Judiciary, which as it had been amended, was as follows:

"Resolved, That Hon. David T Patterson, upon taking the oaths required by the Constitution and laws, be admitted to a seat in the Senate of the United States."

The resolution having been adopted, the following proceedings took place:

"Mr. Johnson. I rise to a privileged question. I move that Hon. David T. Patterson, Senator-elect from the State of Tennessee, be permitted to qualify according to the Constitution and laws.

"The President pro tempore. The Senator-elect will come forward and take the oath prescribed by the Constitution and laws.

"Mr. Patterson stepped to the desk, and the prescribed oaths having been administered to him, he took his seat in the Senate."

It nowhere appears that the Senate receded from the test oath. Senator Patterson, from all that appears, took it. If there is still a doubt whether he did or not, it ought not to be a difficult one to solve.

THE Evening Bulletin of Philadelphia, in its "Facts and Fancies" a few days since had the annexed:

"After the Doolittle convention adjourns it will probably be known as the Didlittle convention."

ONE might as well be out of the world, as beloved by nobody in it.

MORMON emigration across the plains continues to be brisk.

County Poor House.

Hound dogs and Guinea pigs are said to be still the rage at the Beaver county Poor House, all at the expense of the tax-payers.—Local.

The Local, as well as the whole Democratic party, have seemingly dropped the discussion of political subjects entirely, and settled down to the work of abusing the Directors of the Poor House and its Steward.—This being the case, we wish to invite their attention to a few figures, and beg for them a candid consideration.

Mr. A. W. Douthitt, a Democrat, was Steward of the Poor House in 1857. The expenses for that year were, as reported in the papers, $3,202,15. The average number of paupers for that time amounted to 20. Now divide this sum of money by the number of persons kept, and you will ascertain that under Mr. Douthitt's administration, it cost the county just $160,00 to support each pauper for that year. And bear in mind, too, that at this time muslin was selling at 8 cents per yard, calico at 6 cents, shoes at $1,25 per pair, and every other article needed by the paupers, in the same proportion. During this year, there were so few insane paupers, whose condition required their being kept at Harrisburg or Dixmont, as to cost the county but $414,00. This sum is included in the above aggregate.

During the year 1865 the expenditures for the support of the Poor House, less the $938,85 on hand, amounted to $8,265,01. Take from this sum $200,00 paid on the land as purchase money, $205,00 paid for mowing machine and hay rake, as recommended by the Grand Jury, $100,00 for a yoke of oxen, and $1,819,78, the sum paid for keeping the county's insane at Harrisburg and Dixmont, over and above what it cost in Mr. Douthitt's year, and you find the net expense of supporting the Poor House and its paupers to be $5,940,23. Now divide this sum by 55, the average number of paupers for 1865, and you will ascertain that under Republican rule it cost the county but $108,00 per pauper for that year; and this, too, when muslin was 50 cents per yard instead of 8, calico 35 instead of 6, and shoes $3,50 instead of $1,25.

Hence, instead of sweeping assertions, and ond talk about "hounds and Guinea pigs" being kept on the Poor House farm, we wish these figures to be met and disposed of in a business like way. If they are not correct, expose their inaccuracy; and if correct, are the tax-payers of the county not fortunate instead of unfortunate in having a Board of Directors and a Steward who not only manage the institution in a manner that reflects credit upon the county, but who in addition keep each pauper for a less sum of money now than it cost to keep him in 1857?

The Local inquires last week whether we were not at one time "Provost-Marshal, and delighted in torturing drafted men." We answer that we never had anything to do with drafted men. While the Army was laying in winter quarters, we were detailed to act as Provost-Marshal in one of the army divisions, in what was then the Middle Department. Our business was to take care of rebels and their sympathising citizen friends; and if the editor of the Local will inquire in the neighborhood of Martinsburg and Harper's Ferry, Va., he will find that we performed our duty to the benefit of the Union cause, and to the terrible annoyance of his present party associates.

"Comparing Notes."

The editor of the Local says that he has made diligent inquiry concerning our military history, but has not been able to see any one that could give him the desired information. He therefore calls upon us to "write our own book," and publish it for his benefit. We take off our beaver, and thank him profoundly for this willingness on his part to take our word for what we would say concerning ourself; but as we are extremely modest, and decidedly averse to "blowing our own horn," we will simply inform him as to what regiment we belonged, where our company was formed, and then refer him to others for information touching our conduct while at the "front."

We were a member of the 126th Ohio Volunteers, and commanded its F company for 26 months. This company was organized in Carroll county, Ohio, and its remaining members are, with very few exceptions, all residing in that county now. A letter addressed to its Orderly Sergeant, Isaac M. Knotts, at Rose P. O., in that county, would receive prompt attention. The Military Committee of that county was composed of Judge Tripp, C. A. Shober, Ed. Ferrall, George Beatty and Hon. Wm. Deford. The four first named all reside at Carrollton, Ohio, while the fifth lives at Augusta, same county. Hon. E. R. Eckley, the member of Congress from that District, also resides at Carrollton, Ohio. Hon. John A. Bingham, a former Congressman from the same District, but now representing the adjoining one, lives at Cadiz, Ohio, and was well acquainted with the officers and men of the regiment. Now we wish the editor of the Local to write to and inquire of either of these, or all of them, and if he gets a reply to the effect that we were ever reprimanded, court-martialed, or disobeyed orders, shirked a battle, flinched during one, or failed to participate in every one fought by the army of the Potomac during our connection with it, we beg him to publish it, and make such comments upon it as he chooses. So much in relation to ourself; now for the whereabouts of the editor of the Local. If our military history is not intimately known in this "neck of wooks," yours is decidedly obscure; and we might very readily assume that for aught anybody in this county knew to the contrary, you had never been in the service at all. But admitting that you were, be kind enough to inform us from what county you put on the blue, in what regiment you march[illegible] your company may be addressed, who composed the Military Committee of your county, and who represents that District in Congress, for we confess that we too have an "itching" to know what your military history was, and what kind of a "bold sojer" you proved to be. In addition to this, we wish to ask you personally whether the remark set opposite to your name in the Adjutant General's report of Ohio, for the year 1864, on your retiring from the service is correct; and if correct, why was the jury told in the trial of the case of Beighley vs. Odell that you had served three years and three months, and then was "honorably discharged" because of "expiration of service." The official records do not show that you thus got out of the army; and if they do you injustice convince us of that fact; but if not, please let us hear but seldom from you on the question of who were and who were not "good soldiers."

During Mr. Douthitt's administration as Steward of the Poor House, the county had but so few insane paupers to take care of at Harrisburg and Dixmont, that it cost us but $414 per year to keep them there. In 1865 this number had so increased that it required $2,265 07 to pay their keeping at the institutions above named; yet Mr. Shroads and the Directors are blamed, as if they could have averted the will of Providence in afflicting these unfortunate people, and, consequently, not making it incumbent upon the[illegible] of us to provide for their comforts. If the Democracy were in charge of the Poor House would they pay this bill? or would they turn these poor beings out and let them wander from door to door, naked-ness, begging their bread?

We are credibly informed that at the Phillipsburg Democratic meeting, on the 4th instant, Samuel B. Wilson, Esq., attacked the Poor House Directors, and Mr. Shroads, its Steward, in as rough and unbecoming a manner as possible. As he is engaged in looking up matters pertaining to Poor House expenditures, we inquire of him if it comes that while he was[illegible] and counsel for the Poor Directors (say for the year[illegible] dollars, vices cost the county[illegible] additional and that for the sum was only[illegible]. In this libelabors in 1865, is a difference charged thirty-four rule amounting the matter itself please let us hear in favor of P[illegible] to $10. W[illegible] how this

Come, now, let us compare notes, and show who it was that "smelt powder," and "heard thunder." You threw down the gauntlet, and the Harrisburg delegates have readily taken it up and now dare you to walk up to the scratch. We count the comparison, and pronounce you a coward if you shirk it. Trot out your records—commencing with your own. We will soon see how the matter stands.—Local.

Then let us see how it does stand. There were three delegates appointed from this county to attend the Soldiers' Convention at Pittsburg, viz: Sergeant Robt. Dickey, Sergeant J. R. Harrah and ourself.

Sergeant Harrah was a member of the 140th P. V. He participated in the battle of Chancellorsville, under Hooker, and again at Gettysburg, under Meade. After this battle, he was detailed, not at his own request, to do duty in the Quartermaster's Department.

Sergeant Robert Dickey was also a member of the 140th. He participated in fifteen battles, viz: Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, Bristow Station, Mine Run, Wilderness, Todd's Farm, Corbin's Bridge, Po River, Spottsylvania, Hatcher's Run, Boynton Plank Road, Sutherland's Station, Sailor's Creek, Cumberland Church and Appomattox C. H. At Gettysburg he was wounded, and again at Spottsylvania C. H., and has a record for good soldierly qualities in his regiment of which any man might well be proud.

Now for ourself. We were a member of the 126th Ohio Vols. The company with which we were connected participated in thirteen battles during our connection with the army. In eleven of these we took a part, and when the remaining two occurred we were at home wounded. In four of these eleven we commanded Co. F, in five others of them we commanded the two right companies of the regiment, and in the remaining two we were the regimental commander.—These battles were as follows: Martinsburg, Kelley's Ford, Mine Run, Wilderness, Spottsylvania, Po River, Hanover C H., Coal Harbor, Petersburg, Monocacy, and "whirling Early up the Shenandoah." Our company in these several battles lost 13 men in killed and had 20 wounded and 5 captured in battle. When these battles began, the company had been so reduced by disease and disabilities that it numbered only 45 men present for duty. Remembering, then, that 38 of these had either been killed, wounded or captured in battle, it will not require much guessing to ascertain whether it was a "feather-bed" company or not. Cold Harbor we "got a crack" which kept us in the Field Hospital ten days; at Monocacy we received another, on account of which we were first taken to Baltimore, from thence sent home, and in consequence of which we were "honorably discharged on account of wounds received in action." We have been thus minute in regard to ourself because of our present isolation from those who served with us; and if our statement is doubted in a single particular, we have official documents at hand to verify it.

So much, then, for the military histories of those who attended the Soldier's State Convention at Pittsburg; now let us have the military histories of the soldiers who attended the Clymer Convention at Harrisburg. We wish to see these histories in detail; and as the Local has sent the challenge, and as it has been accepted, we expect to be gratified in the next issue of that paper.

Will Not Accept.

Rev. J. J. M'Ilyar, nominated on the 18th of June by the Democracy of this county, for Trustee of the Academy, declines to serve as a candidate, and requests the taking down of his name from the ticket. Dr. James E. Jackson, of Fallston, has been put on the ticket in his stead. Mr. McIlyar acts wisely in thus leaving a "sinking ship," and we have no doubt but what the patriotism of his congregation will cause them to think more of him for pursuing this course than for almost any other act of his life.

The editor of the Local must have been indulging in "beer" when he conceived "alarming extent," when he conceived that we were writing about Jack B. Clark, instead of "John Clark," his father. We did not regard us as re-ferrin, he has been a good soldier; and repeat that John Clark, his er, was present in the Clymer sol. convention, voted with the soldiers, and that he had never been in the service, and made no such pretenslons. Can the Local gainsay this?

Hon. John A. Bingham, one of the most talented men of Ohio, was renominated for Congress by the Union men of his District, on Thursday last. Mr. B. is a statesman of whom any party, State, or country, may take an honest pride.

Quite a Difference.

There are several Republicans in this county who are what is called Johnson men. That is, they claim to admire the President as a man, and in some respects endorse his reconstruction policy. But while they do this, there is also neither vote themselves for H[illegible] nor, or so use their influence well t[illegible] buy way promote his suc[illegible]. A few have, within the past few days, heard from two of these men, who are claimed as "Clymer-Johnson men," and they make no hesitation in saying that while they admire Andy Johnson, they detest Heister Clymer; and that under no circumstances could they be "induced to touch the latter with a forty foot pole."

Mr. Editor: I see by the last Local that I am set down as one of the delegates to the Clymer Soldiers' Convention at Harrisburg on the 1st of August. Allow me to say that I was not a delegate to said Convention, and instead of supporting Clymer for Governor, I intend giving my vote to General Geary for that office. L. G. EDGAR.

Beaver, August 7th, 1866.

Mr. Editor: On my return home last week, my attention was called to a personal attack of a slanderous character, made upon me during my absence from the county by the editor of the Local. As the object of such public attacks are generally well understood, but few men of any political party are ever influenced by them.

Notwithstanding this, we have thought proper to refute through the colums of the Argus the slanderous charges to which we have referred.

One specification in the charge is that I was guilty of a fraud in the purchase of a lease from Capt. D. M. Donahoo, and the Capt. J. M. Imbrie, of Wellsville, Ohio, who was my partner, was the victim of the fraud, by which he was swindled to the amount of $100.

The serious character of this charge will warrant us in noticing the facts in the case, however uninteresting it may be to the general reader.

Mr. Donahoo valued this lease at $800, and assured me that this was the lowest sum for which he would sell it. Subsequently he offered me one hundred dollars if I would sell it for him; or if I would purchase it myself, he would take seven hundred dollars, being, as he assured me, $100 less than he would sell it to any one else, and that the price should be considered eight hundred dollars, and that the conveyance should so express it. I then offered the lease for sale to several parties, and to Capt. Imbrie amongst others, and expected to realize the sum of one hundred dollars in the sale. But he not wishing to purchase the entire lease afterwards became my partner in the purchase from Mr. Donahoo; and as this changed the nature of the transaction, my partner received the benefit of the reduction made in the price. How far this [illegible] sustained by [illegible] be best seen by the following certificate from the gentleman himself:

Wellsville, Ohio, July 10, '66.

This will certify that in the purchase of a lease from D. M. Donahoo by A. W. Taylor and myself, that I was acquainted with the terms offered by Mr. Donahoo to Col. Taylor, and that he agreed that I should share equally with him in all the advantages growing out of Mr. Donahoo's offer to him, and in accordance with this agreement I received of him the sum of $50 00, being the amount which I had overpaid. I also state that so far as I know, there was no attempt whatever on the part of Col. Taylor to take any advantage of me in this transaction. James M. Imbrie.

The second indictment in the bill against me is that the specified consideration in the lease was changed, and the amount raised five hundred dollars; and we are called upon to explain why this change was requested on our part.

The following certificates, which may be deemed a sufficient explanation of this part of the transaction, are submitted for the consideration of all who may see in the solicitude expressed by the Local.

Rochester, Pa., Aug. 6, 1856.

This is to certify that I purchased of A. W. Taylor an interest in a lease sold by D. Donahoo to A. W. Taylor and James M. Imbrie, and that after I had made the purchase I requested him to have the lease so changed that it would show what it had cost them, instead of what it had cost me. This request on my part was made after all the interests had been sold.—To this statement I am willing to be sworn. Samuel J. Blackmore.

This is to certify that I purchased an interest in the lease above referred to, and that at the time of purchasing I [illegible] would show what it had cost me. He agreed to ask Mr. Donahoo to make out a new lease. Wm. Cole.

Freedom, July 10th, 1866.

These two gentlemen—Mr. Blackmore and Mr. Cole—are the only persons to whom any part of this lease was sold by me.

After the sales had all been made, the lease was transferred to the company. We may be permitted to ask the Local to name the parties who were swindled out of five hundred dollars in the transaction? And if there is any deception would it be convenient to name the parties upon whom the deception was practiced? and what could have been the object of such a deception, since the change was made after the parties had purchased, and at their own request?

To the consideration of candid, intelligent readers of the Beaver Argus, this statement is respectfully submitted. A. W. Taylor.

Oil City Correspondence.

Dear Captain: The weather is getting more tolerable, and lookers on in this section have now a much better opportunity of looking up the "new strikes," which are reported with nearly the same frequency as in the "palmy days" of oil-dom, and with quite as much truth. The "Farmer's Railway" (an odd name by the way for an oil R. R.) rapidly approaches completion. The road-bed is graded for a great part of the way, and the rails laid from Oil City to McClintockville. This road is to connect Oil City with Petroleum Centre, and will furnish the inhabitants of the former place a more rapid route of reaching New York than via Meadville, and will no doubt be quite popular. The Warren and Franklin R. R. is also nearly completed. Trains are already running from Oil City to Irvineton where connection is formed with the Railroad from Erie to Philadelphia. This will also take from the Atlantic & Great Western, and bring to mind the big charges made by them when they had it all their own way.

The citizens of Oil City have good cause for rejoicing at the completion of the very elegant iron bridge which crosses Oil Creek, connecting Main and Center Streets. The bridge is very strong and at the same time remarkably handsome. The wooden bridge crossing the Alleghany—and designed to connect Oil City with its sister Venango—will soon be ready for use. This bridge is built on a plan similar to many on the Atlantic and Great Western Railway, known as "Howe's Truss Bridge." It is supported by six piers of massive timber work and looks as though it could defy both storm and flood.

Fires still continue to be quite fashionable and "all the rage." Pit Hole was the scene of a severe conflagration on the 2d of August—$200,000 is the amount of the estimated loss. Twenty-seven wells were destroyed and over 13,000 barrels of oil. One firm are put down as losers of the trifle of $60,000.

Locating oil wells by men of science "who have studied the whole subject for years" is still practised. "Oil Smellers" they are usually termed, and some of them claim most extraordinary powers. A friend who had a well "located" a few days since, finds himself obliged to blast a huge boulder in order that he may be able to erect his derrick over the selected spot.—There is room enough on his lease for a dozen derricks without molesting the huge rock, which has lain there so quietly, since when? But no!—about four feet from it is the "spot"—and no other will do.

Stirring up old wells by exploding a torpedo in them, is now a very favorite pastime. Col. Roberts, the patentee, is making a good deal of money by it, and so are many of those who employ him. Many wells, already abandoned, have been "blown up" into good society, but I have heard of no instances of getting oil where there was none. One singular fact deserves mention.—Since the patent of Col. Roberts has been established and his claim to the "monopoly" settled, he has reduced the prices one half. His advertisement sets forth that he has reduced his prices "one hundred per cent." Rough on old "Daboll." New contrivances for drilling wells are brought out weekly, though but few of the sanguine inventors go beyond building a "model." The "old line" is the safest yet; by this I dont mean the time when you used the "spring pole" and "kicked down" that dry well.

How happy you will feel when the election is over! when you can "let up" on that poor Local. I am glad you are spared one affliction that has befallen this district, which is not knowing who our candidate is. Our District is favored with twelve conferees, who are greatly troubled about agreeing on a candidate. Each county at the opening of the Convention has its candidate who received the vote of his three immediate "constituents." Of course some one must be dropped, and since then the voting has been six to six. The old Democratic doctrine, voting "early and often," has been followed without the success which usually attended their patriotic efforts; probably for the reason, that both sides pursued the same tactics. After tiring out the Borough, the Convention adjourned from Franklin to Meadville, but at late advices had made no progress. One thing is certain.—They must come to an understanding before October. Speed the day!

A year ago the proper authorities appointed a Rev. Mr. ——— to supply the pulpits of Plumer and Pit Hole.—The gentleman officiated for some two or three months, when he informed the church at Plumer that he would henceforth devote his time to Pit Hole, as they could pay his salary alone. A Pastor was soon found for the church in Plumer, although it was a severe tax on the members to pay his salary, inasmuch as in the meantime the financial affairs of Plumer had gone down nearly as rapidly as those of Pit Hole had gone up. This year, the Pastor of same gentleman who was appointed last year to "Plumer and Pit Hole," is this year sent to "Pit Hole and Plumer," inasmuch as the changes of the year have reduced Pit Hole nearly to the par of Plumer. This appointment was not quite to the liking of [illegible] of the members in Plummer, who had not forgotten the way the thing was done last year. Accordingly, availing themselves of their right and privilege, they notified the Rev. Mr. ——— that he "was not acceptable." The letter stating this conclusion of the church, was handed to the Clergyman on the occasion of his first visit after his appointment. He simply opened the services of the church, and then saying that he had received the paper aforesaid, bade them "good afternoon," and left. Who's ahead?

Paul Fecit.

Government Bonds, on the 13th, were held as follows: five twenties 109¼, ten-forties 99¼, seven-thirties 105¼.

The following Beaver county soldiers were in attendance at the Clymer soldiers' convention: Maj. W. H. Powers, Capt. J. J. Conway, Priv. D. E. Blane, Capt. P. A. English, Priv. S. A. Hunter, Corpl. Thomas Clark Sergt. L. G. Edgar, Priv. T. M. Anderson, and ourself, of course.—Local.

It will be seen from a card published in another column of this paper, that when the Local furnishes the military histories of the above delegates, that Seargt. L. G. Edgar's may be omitted. The copperheads thought to flank Mr. Edgar, but instead, got flanked themselves.

Agricultural.—A meeting of the Board of Managers of the Beaver County Agricultural Society will be held at the Court House in Beaver, on Saturday, Aug. 25th, at 1 o'clock, P. M. A general attendance is requested.

Wm. S. Barclay, Sec'y.

☞ Late Bounties under Act of Congress, approved July 28th, 1866, and all Government claims, collected by J. R. Harrah, claim agent. Advertisement next week.

Removed.—The Argus office has been removed to the old "Argus building," immediately opposite Orr's store, where it will be happy to meet its friends on all occasions.

Rain.—On Sunday last we had a rain in this vicinity that continued throughout the whole forenoon. At night it commenced raining again, and kept it up till morning.

Revenue Tax.—David Sankey, Esq., the Collector of Internal Revenue, was in town on Monday and Tuesday last, and was waited on by the tax payers of this vicinity.

Serenade.—On Friday night last we were the recipient of a serenade by some of the young gentlemen of this place. Their music was good, and we acknowledge our indebtedness to them for their visit.

The Corn Crop.—The corn crop, not only in this vicinity, but throughout the whole country promises this year to be the heaviest known for many years. On bottom land it is well as on upland the stalks are of fine growth, and the ears already well filled out. The recent rain will give the crop its finishing touch.

Prizes Awarded.—At the recent examination of the pupils of the St Louis High School, Miss Mattie and Linda Wallace carried off the first prizes of the institution. These young ladies were formerly residents of this place, but now residing at Pittsburg, Pa. Their numerous friends in this locality will be pleased to hear of their good fortune in a Western institution of learning.

Cemetery Dedication.—Our readers will not fail to bear in mind that to-day the new Cemetery in this place will be dedicated. The exercises will be of a character the most solemn, while the well known ability of Judge Agnew to handle any subject to which he turns his attention, will warrant the gathering together of a large mass of our people.

☞ Attention is directed to the law card of Andrew Wray, Esq., in this week's Argus. Mr. Wray has practiced law for several years in this county, and is a young gentleman of good habits, close application and rare ability. Any business entrusted to his care we are satisfied will receive prompt attention, and be managed in a competent and highly creditable manner.

First Burial in the New Cemetery.—The first burial in the new Cemetery in this place occurred on last Sunday. The remains of James Dunlap, whose death is announced in another column of our paper, were deposited there at that time; and while his body is the first to find its resting place in the new burial grounds, it is beyond the knowledge of mortal man to know whose will be the second, or the regular succession of the thousands that will follow.

In the West.—The numerous friends of Robt. M'Creery, Esq., and his son T. J. M'Creery, both of this place, will be glad to learn that they are now engaged in a lucrative business in Kansas City, Missouri. They have opened at that place an extensive boot and shoe store, and are likewise the agents of the "Amber Oil Company of Pennsylvania."—The senior member of the firm of M'Creery & Son is now on a visit to his home, and reports business in the west as rapidly reviving.

Beecher on Pianos.—"We never dreamed of going higher. To own a Chickering Grand seemed almost like a dream. But dreams do come to pass sometimes! There stands one of the noblest of all pianos—a Chickering Grand—in our parlor, and there is but one thing more that fortune can do for us, viz: breathe upon us some night the power of playing upon it. We walk up and down before it, proud and happy, knowing that in it sleeps Handels and Mozarts, Beethovens and Meyerbeers, Webers and Wagners, Palestrinas, Spontinis, Rossinis, longing to be aroused, but to us is given no incantation by which to call them forth! It is awkward to have to borrow your players.—Like bird-singing, the best singing is that which comes spontaneously, and, as it were, in twilight from under the leaves! Had all Europe offered us a choice of instruments, we should have chosen a Chickering."

The sole agents in Pittsburgh for the Chickering Pianos, are C. C. Mellor & Co., at whose warerooms, No. 81 Wood street, a complete assortment can always be found.

See advertisement in another column.

Thieving in Economy Township.—On the night of the 7th inst., Capt. Fowler, of Economy township, in this county, had two valuable horses stolen from his premises. Obtaining some clue to the direction the thief or thieves had taken, he followed and overtook them at Pittsburgh. The thieves were brought before, and left in the custody of the Mayor, and the horses brought to this county. The names of the guilty parties are said to be Charles Sabby and Charles Stubega, and it is to be hoped they will receive the punishment adequate to their crime.

On the same night these horses were stolen, Mr. Hill, of Freedom, was met by two men a short distance above the town, and his money or his life demanded. Mr. H., considering that the latter would be of more value to him than the former, "forked over his pile," after which he was permitted to depart in peace. These men were evidently the same ones that took Capt. Fowler's horses. It is also supposed now, that these are the parties that robbed Capt. Conway of his watch and money some time ago.

Capt. Shinn, and others, have likewise suffered recently from these marauders, and if justice gets her due it is highly probable that they will take up their lodgings for a considerable length of time in the western penitentiary.

Meeting of the County Committee.—On Saturday last, in pursuance of the call of the Chairman, the Union Executive Committee of this county met in the Court House. The meeting is said to have been one of the largest of the kind held in the county for a number of years, and the members, without a single exception, were enthusiastic in the support of the reconstruction policy of Congress, and gave it as their opinion that the party was never more thoroughly united on any issue, and never more in earnest in its efforts to get out our full vote. The people appear to be alive to the issues now before them; and they have come to the conclusion that, after having conquered armed rebellion in the field, Presidential treachery shall not now hand their government and them over to the defeated enemy.

Our County Fair.—We learn from the Secretary of the Beaver County Agricultural Society, Mr. Wm. S. Barclay, that the prospect of having a successful Fair on the 26th, 27th and 28th of September, is flattering in the highest degree. We trust that the anticipations of the Board of Managers will be more than realized, and to this end, not only our farmers, but our mechanics, ladies, and all others in the county, should put their shoulders to the wheel, so that we may be able to boast of having the best Agricultural and mechanical exhibition held in this county for a number of years.

The premiums offered embrace about $1,300, and include awards for nearly every species of Agricultural and Mechanical labor.

Died of Cholera.—Mr. James Dunlap, a son of Samuel R. Dunlap, Esq., of Bridgewater, this county, died of Cholera, last week, in St. Louis, Mo. His remains were brought home and interred at this place on last Sabbath. He was a promising young man, and his early death now living affliction to his parents, brothers and sisters, and likewise to a large circle of intimate acquaintances. His elder brothers, Capt. Joseph, and William, were with him when attacked with the fatal disease. The family have our warmest sympathy in their sore bereavement.

Adjourned Committee Meeting.—The Union Executive Committee, which met at this place on Saturday last, adjourned to meet here again on next Saturday, at 1 o'clock, P. M. As business of importance will be brought before the Committee, it is earnestly desired that every member be present at that time.

North Sewickly, PA., Aug. 10, 1866.

Editor Argus:—Dear Sir: There was preaching in the Berry Church, in Marion township, this county, on last Sabbath three weeks ago. After the religious services were concluded, and the congregation dismissed, a Mr. Daniel Brenner, of New Sewicky township, met them at the door and took up a collection to pay off the fine and costs imposed by a court and jury upon J. H. Odell, the editor of the Beaver Local, for libel. We have seen some things in our time that grated upon our feelings; but this desecration of the Holy Sabbath, and as it were, at God's own altar, to raise money so that a convicted libeller might go free, made an impression on our mind that will not soon be effaced. X. Y. Z.

Editor Argus: Permit me through your columns to correct a mistake that has been circulated by some one, that D. A. Glass has retired from the auctioneer business. I would just say to my old friends and the public generally that it is a mistake; that I am still in that business, and being duly commissioned as auctioneer for the county of Beaver, I will attend to all sales or auctions throughout the county wherever my services may be required. Give me a call. (I carry the papers.)

DAVID A. GLASS,
New Brighton, Aug. 14, '66. Auctioneer.

Medical.

An adjourned meeting of the Beaver County Medical Society met at Rochester on Thursday, 9th inst., S. M. Ross, M. D., President, in the chair, and I. Winans, M. D., Secretary.

The object of the meeting being to hear and act upon the full and final report of the committee consisting of Drs. Stanton, McKinny and Simpson, appointed at a previous meeting to revise the constitution and fee bill.

After mature deliberation, several important amendments to the constitution were adopted, as recommended by the committee.

But, owing to the difficulty of arranging a standard prices to suit the advance of markets and medicines, it was thought advisable after a lengthy discussion of the matter, for the present at least, to suspend the list of charges entirely, allowing each Physician to value his own services. It is hoped, however, that no member will take advantage of this decision, and dishonor the profession by cheap doctoring, to gain patronage. Just discrimination in cases of legitimate charity, excepted.

After the transaction of some other business connected with this meeting, the society adjourned to meet at Economy on the second Thursday of September, for the purpose of discussing the pathology and treatment of Dysentery; after which the society will meet every two months instead of monthly.

Reported.

Railroad Meeting.

In Phillipsburg on the 11th day of August, 1866, a number of the residents on the south side of the county of Beaver met, and organized by choosing A. J. Jolly Chairman and F. Le Goullon Secretary.

On motion, it was resolved to appoint committees consisting each of two citizens of the different districts directly concerned in a railroad on the south side of the county, for the purpose of ascertaining of the landowners on the route to the line of Allegheny county their intentions and opinons respecting the giving of the right of way free to any railroad company to build the road. The following persons were appointed as these committees:

For the borough of Phillipsburg, A. J. Jolly and Jacob Siephecker; Moon township, John R. M'Donald and Allen Brooks; Hopewell township, William Irons, Jas. C Ritchie, Valentine Sohn.

Adjourned to meet on Saturday, the 25th day of August, at the lower Logstown Public School House at 2 o'clock P. M.

A. J. Jolly,
F Le Goullon, Sec'y. Ch'n.

Tribute of Respect.

Whereas, in the inscrutable providence of God, Mr. James H. Dunlap, of Bridgewater, a young man well known and highly esteemed in this community, has been suddenly stricken down, in the city of St. Louis, by that fell destroyer, the Cholera, thereby plunging his family into the deepest affliction; And Whereas, two of our Normal Classmates have been attending, endeared themselves and have greatly are of the number of those on whom this sad affliction will fall with crushing weight; therefore,

Resolved, That we recognize the hand of God in this sudden bereavement, and reverently acknowledge that all his acts are done in Justice and Mercy.

Resolved, That as a class we proffer our heart-felt sympathy to the parents, sisters, and brothers of the deceased, and will offer our prayers to God that they may be sustained in this the time of their great sorrow.

Resolved, That Dr. J. S. Marsh be requested to visit the family and furnish them with a copy of these resolutions; also that a copy of these resolutions be furnished both of the Beaver papers for publication.

The Attempt to Assassinate the President and the Future Republican Governor of Penn'a.

It is horrible to contemplate the fact, and equally abherrent to discuss it, but it is nevertheless true, that there was a deliberate, organized and persistent attempt, at York, yesterday, to assassinate the present, as well as the future Republican Governor of Pennsylvania. At least twenty reliable and intelligent gentlemen corroborate each other in stating that a murderous fire from revolvers in the hands of Copperheads, was directed at the car occupied by Gen. Geary and Gov. Curtin, in the train carrying the Dauphin and Cumberland delegations from York, yesterday. We make no comment on this fact, but we submit it to the people of Pennsylvania, and ask the question, whether, like at New Orleans, the Union men of the Keystone State are to be slaughtered in cold blood, when they meet for deliberation in a peaceable and lawful manner?—Harrisburgh Telegraph, 9th.

Mr. Lawrence and Soldiers' Bounties.

The Review & Examiner resorts to its old trade of misrepresentation when referring to the vote of Mr. Lawrence upon the question of soldiers' bounties. The editors engage in a mean and sneaking effort to make the impression that he opposed the late bounty bill passed by Congs. It is true that when, by the art of a Committee of conference, a bounty bill came before the Hou coupled with a proposition to add o thousand dollars per annum to salaries of members, in such a way a separate vote could not be had, Mr. Lawrence voted against it: Had done otherwise, our neighbors wd have held him up as deserving of the deepest execration for voting two thousand dollars a year into his own pocket, and the miserable pittance of one hundred dollars each to the soldiers who had served two years, fifty dollars to those who had served one year. The record will show that whenever the question of giving bounties to soldiers was before the House as a separate and distinct measure, Mr. Lawrence was always found its favor, and voted repeatedly for higher sums than are provided in the bill which passed. This we shall show more fully in our next.—Wooster Reporter.

ORPHANS' COURT SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE.

BY virtue of an order of the Orphans' Court of Beaver county, the undersigned, Executor of the last will and testament of Matthew Elder, late of Elder's Mills, in said county, dec'd., will expose to sale by public vendue or outcry, on the premises, on at 1 o'clock, p. m., all the following described real estate of said Matthew Elder, dec'd.:

1st. All that tract of land situated in Darlington and South Beaver townships, in the county aforesaid, bounded on the west by land of Wm. H. Knight, on the north by other lands of said testator, recently sold to Elder and M'Geehan, on the east by land of James M'Millin and other lands of testator, and on the south by land of Thomas F. Elder, containing about 86 Acres, about 60 cleared; on which are erected a large Two Story Brick Store House, with Dwelling House attached, Cellar underneath, Double Portico to Dwelling; a Large Two Story Brick Woolen Factory, with a basement story of stone, and with all necessary machinery therein for Carding, Spinning, Weaving, Fulling, &c.; the building and machinery being in good order, and of capacity sufficient for a large manufacturing business. The whole water power of the Little Beaver Creek is available for manufacturing purposes at this point, and the Dam, Race, &c., are substantial and in good order. Also, a good Two Story Frame Dwelling House, with Kitchen attached, double porch, &c. Also, a good double Frame Barn, with good stone foundation, and a large Wagon Shed and Cord Crib. Also, a Two Story Frame Warehouse, and two hewed log Tenant Houses on the premises.

2d. All that tract of land situate in Darlington tp., in said county, bounded on the west by other lands of the said testator, recently sold to Elder and McGeehan, on the north by lands of S. C. Chamberlain, on the east by lands of George Hoffman and Reuben Watt, and on the south by lands of James M'Millin, containing about 150 acres, about 120 acres cleared and under cultivation; (reserving, however, as appurtenant to the premises first above described, the right and privilege of backing the water up the creek on this tract, by the dam now erected upon said first mentioned premises, or any dam of same heighth that may hereafter be erected thereon); on which is erected a large Two Story Stone Dwelling House, with good cellar underneath, and a log kitchen attached. Also, a large hewed log barn, with good stone foundation, and other out-buildings. Also, two small frame tenant houses with stone basements, and one hewed log tenant house, with basement story of stone, etc., etc.

The above are valuable farms; are located about 4 miles from Darlington, and about 1½ miles from the present terminus of the Darlington Cannel Coal Railroad, and are immediately upon the projected Railroad from New Gallilee, on the Pittsburg, Ft. W. & C. Railway down the valley of the Little Beaver, through the coal and oil region to Glasgow, on the C. & P. R. R., at the Ohio river.

The improvements on the tract above described are very valuable. The water power is excellent and well improved. The Factory and other buildings are well and substantially constructed, and the location a good one for manufacturing purposes.

Attention is also called to the fact that these farms are on the Little Beave, but about ten miles above the Celebrated Island Run Oil Wells on said creek, and the tendency of the oil developments at present being up said creek, it is believed that in addition to their value for farming and manufacturing purposes, they must soon become Valuable Oil Lands.

TERMS.—One-third of the purchase money on the confirmation of the sale by the court, the balance in two equal, annual payments from the date of the confirmation of the sale by the court, with interest; back payments to be securedby bond and mortgage.

For further information apply to the undersigned at his residence, near the premises, or address him at Darlington, P. O., Beaver County, Pa. REUBEN WATT,

LOSS

By Portland Fire, July 4th.

The total amount covered by Ætna Policies on property destroyed or damaged is $206,854, on which salvage will be about 5 per cent. Our total loss will not vary much from $200,000, and is being promptly adjusted and paid. This sum is 5 per cent. upon the assets, a figure but slightly exceeding our government and State taxes paid last year, or a proportion equal to a $5000 loss for a company of 100,000 assets.

The necessity for insurance and the value of wealthy, strong corporations, is forcibly illustrated by this fire. Several weak Insurance Companies are destroyed. Portland has a population of 35,000;—was handsomely built, mostly fine brick or stone structures—protected and screened with upwards of 3000 shade trees—bounded on three sides by water—indeed, literally, almost rising from the ocean—and with a good steam fire department—yet it has $10,000,000 of property consumed in a few hours—upon a holiday when its people are least occupied—from the very insignificant cause of a contemptible fire cracker.

Remember the trifling origin of fires that sweep away in a few hours the earnings of years. Consider your best interests and give the Ætna agent a call if you need proper Insurance security. Policies issued at fair terms.

BEAVER ACADEMY.

THE Fall Term of this Institution will commence on Monday, the 10th of September 1866,

under the charge of

PROFESSOR R. T. TAYLOR,

AS PRINCIPAL.

In electing Prof. Taylor Principal, under an arrangement by which he will hereafter continue his connection for a term of years with this institution, the Board of Trustees feel that it is placed upon a better and more permanent basis than heretofore; while his character, long practical experience, and reputation as a successful educator, give assurance that under his management the school must prosper, and be, what the Board aim to make it, a first-class Academy, where young men may obtain a thorough English, Classical and Commercial education, at moderate expense. He will be aided by able and efficient assistants. Everything reasonable will be done to make the school both pleasant and profitable to the student. For particulars and terms, address the Principal at Beaver, Beaver co., Pa.

HENRY HICE,
Secretary Board of Trustees.

IN accepting the Principalship of the Academy, I desire to assure the public that no expense or labor will be spared to render this a first-class institution in all respects. Young men will be fitted for any class in College, and a scientific course marked out for those who do not desire to take the languages. For this purpose the fine apparatus will be brought into requisition. Ample arrangements will be made for board in the institution and in town. Let those who wish to obtain an education, or have sons to educate, give us a trial.
